

Mirjana Pejić Bach's Presentation: "A Decade of Migration: Exploring Trends and Patterns in EU15 and Other EU Countries"

Migration is a dominant trend in the economies of EU countries due to population ageing and other burning demographic issues. This lecture explores how science responds to the plethora of migration aspects with a decade-long analysis of migration trends in Europe, comparing EU15 and other EU countries. Using Scopus for data collection and VosViewer for network visualization, the study highlights key research themes, patterns, and shifts in academic focus, providing insights into migration dynamics and their regional differences.